REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Regarding claims 1, 6-8, 13 and 14, the prior art fails to teach a device for driving a solenoid, comprising reverse voltage applying means comprising an absolute value calculating means for calculating the absolute values of on-duty and off-duty values, an inverter for inverting the signs of the on-duty values and off-duty values, and a NAND circuit adapted to input an output from said absolute value calculating means and an output from said inverter, in combination with the other limitations in the claims.

Regarding claims 15 and 18-22, the prior art fails to teach a feedback controller selecting one of a plurality of predetermined integral term constants according to a gap detected by a gap detecting means, whereby said feedback controller selects a larger one of said integral term constants when said gap is large, and selects a smaller one of said integral term constants when said gap becomes smaller, in combination with the other limitations in the claims. Applicant's arguments filed 16 May 2006, see pages 13-14 regarding claims 15 and 18-22, are persuasive.

Regarding claims 23, 26 and 27, the prior art fails to teach a feedforward controller selecting one of a plurality of predetermined transfer functions and/or one of a plurality of predetermined gains according to a gap detected by a gap detecting means, whereby said feedforward controller selects a smaller one of said transfer functions and/or a smaller one of said gains when said gap is large, and selects a larger one of said transfer functions and/or a larger one of said gains when said gap becomes smaller, in combination with the other limitations in the claims. Applicant's arguments filed 16 May 2006, see pages 13-14 regarding claims 23, 26 and 27, are persuasive.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
